CORE MAGAZINE AT THE CENTER OF VIRGIN ISLANDS URBAN CULTURE

Comin' Again

We at CORE Magazine are pleased to announce the release of our second issue which features the honorable Pressure Buss Pipe – Delyno Brown on the cover. As an independent publication, our presence in the community is expanding with each release and we anticipate future growth as our readers continue to appreciate our commitment to filling each page with inspiring and uplifting stories about our people.

Who's in CORE Magazine's August 2007 Issue

The August 2007 edition includes: interviews with Frederick Morton (Sr. VP and General Manager of Tempo) on Tempo's 'One Love' social initiative, renowned gospel artist Neville Peter, 2006/2007 Crucian Festival road march champs the X-Press Band, two-time BVI Festival road march champs the Xtreme Band, the young political powerhouse Lesley Comissiong, Malvern Gumbs of MVG Productions, the 2007 St. Thomas Carnival road march champs the JDPP Jammers, Dr. Cheryl Wade of the KALIMA Health and Holistic Living Center, plus much more! Featured young entrepreneurs include Morgan Cullen's Bridal Gowns, Richard Harrigan's International Fitteds and Bonelli's Headz & Threadz. There is a story on the Frenchtown French Heritage Museum, an opinion column on the recent Constitutional Convention electoral process, profiles of Virgin Islands Queens and CORE's sizzling Summer Fashion Guide

Thank You To Our Supporters, Advertisers, and Well Wishers!

Naem and Earl of CORE Magazine with Jeanille Bonterre (host of Tempo's Downtown Island) reading CORE's August 2007 issue

We are very excited about the ongoing great responses we continue to receive from the community and we are very grateful to our readers for their encouraging words and patronage as well as to our sponsors and advertisers who continue to support our efforts.

As a locally owned bi-monthly publication, we offer an effective medium that resonates with both young and mature audiences. CORE promises to continue its mission of chronicling the achievements of our local people; bridging the various VI communities abroad with the local community at home; telling the stories of young entrepreneurs who provide inspiration to the youth in our community; in addition to providing opportunities for local artisans and musicians to showcase their art form. Because of this CORE is in a unique position to unite, educate, entertain, uplift, and empower our readers.
